Family Literacy- Ed Bader

- the committee presented a trifecta of workshops in the fall of 2013 that were intergenerational and for extended families
- Next year, they are looking at vulnerable families or family members, how to cultivate support within families, and how to involve and educate grandparents involved in childrearing
- are looking at cultivating a relationship with the library associations in York Region.

York Region Supervisors Association- MelissaTawadros

- This year the association had presentations from Sentient H.R. on supply staffing, Kim Sylvester from York Region CAS on services provided, the Raising the Bar certificate awards, and Kathy Spinks from Seneca on supporting students and expectations
- The annual conference in May had 50 registrants and featured Living Rhythms, a drumming group, and Margaret from Child Ventures spoke on leadership
- The membership has been diminishing for several years and they wonder where the association is going in the future
- The association is looking for new chairs

Communication- Joy Vance

- additional funding was used in the fall of 2013 and spring of 2014 to enhance the website
- Posting items to the site is now much more user friendly
- Browse Aloud, a new accessibility tool to expand the number of users and ease the use for people with challenges
- Business cards were printed with instructions for using the RRS feed.
- The site can now be followed on Twitter, Pinterest and Facebook
